Items such as sofas, chairs and beds must have the current fire safety labels attached. Bedding such as duvets and pillows cannot be accepted at reuse organisations. However, most animal rescue centres do accept these items – please check locally.

Other Options?

You can sell or donate your items:

- Online – Ebay, Vinted, Gumtree, Preloved, Facebook buy, sell, swap sites, Freegle and Freecycle and many others
- Auction Houses – Most towns have a sale room that you can sell household goods
- Car boot sales
- Local shops – where you can advertise on noticeboards.
- The household waste recycling centres all have reuse containers for items that are in saleable condition, otherwise they can be recycled by material type in the waste containers. www.northyorks.gov.uk/hwrc

Use reusable items yourself

Water bottles and insulated coffee mugs – Invest in your own reusable water bottle and hot drinks mug and you can take advantage of cheaper drinks and reduce the amount of rubbish that you create.

Shopping bags – Since single use carrier bag charges came in, reusable shopping bags are a common sight, keep them in the car and you won't be left without a bag at the supermarket.

Reusable period products – Disposable menstrual pads can contain up to 90% plastic and most tampons contain plastic too. Disposal in the bin of tampons, pads and applicators - generates 200,000 tonnes of waste per year in the UK. Switch to reusable period products such as washable period pants, washable cloth pads, a menstrual cup, a reusable tampon applicator.

Washable nappies – Using reusable nappies means very little waste ending up in your bin unlike the 4,000 disposable nappies that one child may go through. If used from birth, you can also save anywhere between £100 and £1,000 by the time your baby is potty-trained. www.goreal.org.uk

Milk – Check locally for a 'milkman' who will deliver fresh milk to your doorstep on a morning. Milk deliveries in reusable glass bottles have become more popular since the campaign on plastics.

Clothing and furniture – charity shops and auctions are great places to pick up some good quality bargains.

Batteries – Rechargeable batteries and charging points may cost more initially but you will save money and reduce waste.

Vacuum cleaners – Many vacuum cleaner makes don't have a bag and the contents can go straight into the home compost bin (or bin) but if your vacuum does use a bag then invest in a reusable bag for your make – most are available online. This will save money and you can empty the bag out into your compost bin and use again.

Pass it on and help your local community and the environment

1. Your unwanted items will be appreciated by someone else.
2. You may be saving your friends, family and community money by providing free or affordable clothes and household items.
3. You are raising funds for charities who provide training, employment and apprenticeship opportunities.
4. You are protecting the environment by saving energy and raw materials; preventing valuable resources from being wasted.
