1. Introduction

North Yorkshire councils spend nearly £500 million per year with suppliers on various works, goods and services, providing businesses of all sizes with a wide range of commercial opportunities. We are always keen to work with suppliers to improve services we provide for the region's citizens. Whatever the size of your business, there will be opportunities to supply us.

This Guide has been produced by the councils to:

- Assist suppliers and contractors to understand the obligations placed on councils in the procurement of works, goods and services.
- Direct suppliers and contractors where to find the opportunities to supply councils.
- Explain how to bid for council work.

It also explains how contracts are awarded for their value for money, taking account of both price and quality; hence it isn't always the lowest price that wins the business. Whilst councils cannot discriminate in favour of locality, we are committed to supporting and encouraging local firms to compete for contracts.

4

We want to help increase the capacity of local Voluntary and Community organisations, Small and Medium Enterprises and Black and Minority Ethnic firms, helping organisations become 'Fit to Compete' and able to secure contracts from service providers. It is hoped that this will generate increased business opportunities, which will in turn help local employment and generate other community benefits.

We are always happy to advise potential suppliers, and explore ways of achieving value for money, with quality goods and services at competitive prices for the councils and residents of North Yorkshire.

So what are the benefits to you of working with us?

The councils are:

- Fair
- Non-discriminatory
- Professional
- Prompt to pay
- Long established organisations

Benefits are also both ways. By working with you we can continue to learn how to make it easier for other firms to do business with us.

Together all nine councils serve over three-quarters of a million residents. Whatever the state of the economy, there are plenty of opportunities for doing business with the public sector. North Yorkshire's strategic location is well served by air, road and rail and has massive potential.

This Guide is designed to provide the broad details for North Yorkshire and as such does not provide the specific detail of all the individual councils' procurement activities, practices or procedures.

2. Geography of North Yorkshire for procurement purposes

© Crown copyright. All rights reserved. North Yorkshire County Council 100017946 2007

The county of North Yorkshire covers almost 2 million acres and geographically is the largest county in England. The county includes the towns of Northallerton, Harrogate, Selby, Skipton, Richmond, Malton, and Scarborough as well as the cities of York and Ripon.

From the map above and the table below you can see the geography of the region and how it is made up of one County Council, one Unitary Council, five District Councils and two Borough Councils with differing spending patterns:

Name of Council	Type of Council	Annual Spend on Goods, Services and Works
City of York Council	Unitary Council	£67m
Craven District Council	District Council	£4.6m
Hambleton District Council	District Council	£9m
Harrogate Borough Council	District Council	£20m
Richmondshire District Council	District Council	£8m
Ryedale District Council	District Council	£3m
Scarborough Borough Council	District Council	£30m
Selby District Council	District Council	£11m
North Yorkshire County Council	County Council	£330m

Depending on the size of the council and its status, (County, Unitary, Borough or District) there will be a difference in what and how each council procures. Shown below is a list of council services which shows whether they are handled by District & Borough Councils, the County Council or the Unitary Council (City of York).

3. Collaboration

Across the whole of the Yorkshire and Humber region, council Procurement Officers now meet at regular intervals as part of User Groups and at Forums where all aspects of procurement can be discussed in an effort to streamline the way we work and collaborate together with the aim of becoming more efficient and removing duplication of effort.

By the use of such meetings and systems like the Supplier and Contract Management System (see section 12. Electronic Procurement) adopted by the Yorkshire and Humber region, we are now able to take a wider view than just our own council and are collaborating in joint tenders and contracts with a more regional approach where practicable. These collaborative procurements offer greater opportunities to suppliers but within a more competitive environment, thus delivering better savings to councils and therefore better value to council tax payers.

This “How To Do Business” booklet is an example of these collaborative working arrangements.

4. Rules that govern how councils do business

Council and Financial Rules

Each council has to comply with its own constitutional requirements, including Contract and Financial Regulations, plus all relevant law that applies to procurement exercises. Therefore, each council has its own Contract Procedure Rules which, together with its Financial Rules, govern how the council will do business, such as determining what process and procedures will be used when obtaining quotations and tenders.

European Law

All councils must follow European law on Public Sector Procurement.

The EU Procurement regulations require us to follow detailed procedures for all procurements above certain financial thresholds, which are reviewed biennially. The thresholds for total contract value (i.e. over the whole period the contract is in place) are:

- for Supplies and Services - £156,442
- for Works - £3,927,260

These thresholds were set on 1 January 2010 and are subject to review in 2012. For contracts at or above those thresholds, some of the basic rules are summarised below:

- A specific tender notice must be placed in the supplement to the Official Journal of the European Union (OJEU) and advertised in a suitable professional/trade journal or the press as appropriate.
- Tenders must be invited in accordance with one of the prescribed procedures, with minimum time-scales to ensure that interested parties are given a reasonable time to respond to adverts and prepare submissions.
- Once awarded, any contract covered by the full regime of the EU Directives must have a mandatory “standstill” period of at least 10 calendar days before contract work commences.
- Finally a contract award notice must be placed in the OJEU. Unsuccessful contractors can also request feedback on why they were unsuccessful.

Best Value

Best Value is an opportunity for the councils to rethink the way in which services are delivered. Under the provisions of the Local Government Act 1999, we must make arrangements to secure continuous improvement in the way our functions are exercised, having regard to a combination of economy, efficiency, and effectiveness. Any successful tenderer will be required to provide a service in accordance with this principle.

5. Issues that may affect opportunities to do business with the councils

Introduction

The councils in North Yorkshire have a variety of policies relating to for example health and safety, care of the environment, sustainability, and equality through procurement, and urge suppliers to establish policies in these areas.

You will be expected to adhere to such policies when submitting quotations and to show evidence of compliance with such policies if invited to submit tenders. We will assess compliance as part of any tender evaluation.

We would require suppliers to comply with all current legislation e.g.

- RoHS (the restriction of the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment)
- HWR (Hazardous Waste Regulations) and other regulations such as the WEEE (Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment) Directive.

Health & Safety

The councils are committed to ensuring the health, safety and welfare of their employees and that of all others affected by their undertakings. Contracts to supply goods or services will only be awarded to contractors who can satisfy council requirements in terms of resources required and their health and safety competence.

Successful contractors and suppliers are expected to demonstrate compliance with current health and safety legislation including:

- commitment to the health and safety of its employees, client and others
- up to date health and safety policies and procedures
- adequate risk assessment procedures
- adequate system of monitoring and reporting accidents, incidents and ill health
- access to competent health and safety advice

Contracts are monitored to ensure compliance with contract standards and health and safety requirements.

Equalities and Diversity

The councils are equal opportunities employers and are committed to promoting equality of opportunity for all people irrespective of gender, age, race, or disability.

We are keen to ensure that our suppliers abide by the law and are working to best practice in this area.

Sustainability

The Government's definition of value for money, in the context of procurement, is: 'The optimum combination of whole-life cost and quality (or fitness for purpose) to meet the user's requirement'. Procurement is about securing services and products that best meet the needs of users and the local community in its widest sense. The councils therefore take sustainability as well as cost and quality into account when choosing suppliers.

Local government expenditure on works, goods and services has significant economic, social and environmental impacts. Minimising our impact in these areas, and where possible having a positive influence, helps to improve local quality of life and promote sustainable development. The cornerstone of sustainability is achieving development and progress that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs.

The Local Government Act 2000 and new European Community Directives give councils the power and duty to promote or improve the well being of the local area and contribute to achieving sustainable development in the UK. We are required to move towards a challenging measure of corporate social responsibility (CSR), where we judge results not just by the input but by its outcomes: the difference we make to the community in which we live, and the contribution we and our suppliers make to that community. CSR can be a critical factor in a tender assessment process.

6. Quotation and tender limits

Each council's Contract Procedure Rules will determine how any procurement exercise will be carried out, taking into account the estimated value of the contract.

Although the rules for obtaining quotes and inviting tenders are broadly the same at each council, the level at which each of these processes will be used currently differs around the region; work is in hand to explore options for commonality in this area. The information for each council is shown below:

7. The stages of the tender process

Bidding procedures for council tenders and contracts often seem testing, but each stage is necessary, as councils must award every contract on the basis of getting value for money for local taxpayers.

The following illustrates a typical procurement process within a council.

1. Defining the Procurement Activity

The council defines its aims, decides what is needed and clearly specifies this, prepares the business case and then decides how the procurement exercise will be carried out. It will take account of market conditions, legislation and council policy.

2. Seeking Expressions of Interest

The council may invite suppliers to submit expressions of interest in the contract in response to an advert. In some cases suppliers have to pre-qualify before being invited to tender; they answer a questionnaire and supply information about their financial status, previous experience and references, etc. All responses are carefully assessed which can be very time consuming.

3. Inviting Tenders

The council invites suppliers to put in an offer (tender) either in response to an advert or based on those suppliers providing satisfactory information at the expressions of interest stage. Sometimes through necessity these can be very complex documents.

4. Evaluating Tenders

The council evaluates the tenders against set standards (or criteria) relating to value for money which will have been agreed before any responses were received. In this way there is an objective assessment and comparison process to judge each tender against the others.

5. Awarding the Contract

The council awards the contract to the supplier whose bid offers the most economically advantageous tender.

6. Performing and Managing the Contract

The Contractor performs the contract and the council manages it, checking and monitoring the contractor's performance throughout.

Issues to consider at each stage of the tender process

Potential bidders can increase their chances of being successful in their applications to carry out work for us if they pay attention to the following aspects of the process.

Do

- Keep an eye on the councils' web sites, the Official Journal of the EU and the local and trade press for tender notices.
- Study the entire tender document carefully ensuring you meet all the requirements.
- Ensure you supply all the information and details asked for in the required format, answering the questions asked and not the questions you wished we has asked.
- Ensure your submission is returned before the deadline, as tenders are not accepted if they arrive late - even if they were posted before the deadline.
- Contact the tendering authority if you require any further information.

Common Reasons for disqualification

16

- Supplier identification marks on the envelope.
- Tender documents received after the closing date for the receipt of tenders.
- Please return your tender documents no later than the time indicated on the closing date for the return of tender documents. If you do miss the deadline, your tender will not be considered.
- Tender documents sent to wrong address. They must be returned to the stated return address.
- Tender documents returned in the open post without the tender reference details on the envelope.
- Form of tender not signed.

Common Reasons for non acceptance

- Uncompetitive – failure to submit the most cost effective, best value offer;
- Not quoting a price for the specified product (and the alternative submitted is not the equivalent);
- Not supplying samples of products when requested;
- Not supplying samples of management information, reports or COSHH data sheets with the tender documents; and
- Unsatisfactory references (performance) or financial history.
- Submission of an alternative bid without prior agreement

8. How do we notify suppliers of tendering opportunities?

Each council will invite suppliers to express interest or to tender in response to an advertisement placed in local and regional newspapers and/or trade journal, for example some of those we use are:

The Yorkshire Post
The Press
Contrax Weekly
The Craven Herald

Scarborough Evening News
Whitby Gazette
The Northern Echo
Harrogate Advertiser

As many of the Yorkshire and Humber councils are using the regional Supplier and Contract Management System (see section 12. Electronic Procurement) this will be used to an increasing extent to advertise forthcoming opportunities. SCMS also allows the tender documents to be downloaded and updated, and then returned electronically. The Councils are currently reviewing the system and new arrangements will be in place from January 2012. In the future each of the Councils will also provide a route to forthcoming opportunities via their own web sites, with some already offering this facility.

9. Types of tenders used by councils

Restricted Tendering Procedure

A restricted tender is where a shortlist of suppliers is drawn from respondents to a public notice for a specific contract. Invitation to tender for the contract is limited to suppliers who reply to this public notice and who meet predetermined selection criteria. This procedure can be used when there is no Framework Arrangement maintained for the type of work involved, or for contracts above the EU Public Procurement Regulations threshold.

Notices inviting suppliers to apply for inclusion on a shortlist for the contract will be published on each of the council's web sites and in trade journals, local press and the Official Journal of the European Union (OJEU) if above the EU Public Procurement threshold.

Open Tender Procedure

Under this procedure, all respondents to a public notice advertising the specific contract must be invited to tender. An evaluation of both the tenderers and tenders is carried out at the same time, once tenders have been returned.

18

Notices inviting suppliers to apply for tender documents for the contract will be published as outlined above. The public notice sets out particulars of the proposed contract, invites interested parties to apply for tender documents and states the deadline for tenders to be received.

Negotiated

The negotiated procedure may only be used in very limited circumstances which are clearly dictated by EU Procurement Directives. The primary purpose of this procedure is to negotiate on the specification of the project and not the price. This route is not commonly used.

Competitive Dialogue

The competitive dialogue is used in limited circumstances. It is a procedure that permits structured discussions with potential tenderers to better understand specification options, before the conducting of a tender process.

Framework Arrangements

Framework arrangements occur where a contracting council sets up an arrangement with one or more suppliers on the understanding that the council will call on the suppliers to provide works, services or supply as and when needed. No guarantee of work is given and often further competitions will be run between suppliers on the framework contract to ensure Best Value is achieved.

Another type of framework agreement is a formal call-off contract where the contracting council invites offers from suppliers on fixed terms and conditions that are then called off when necessary.

Notices inviting suppliers to participate in a Framework Arrangement will be published in the same manner as for Restricted Tenders.

10. Approved & select lists

Some of the councils maintain limited numbers of approved lists of contractors and consultants. These mainly relate to construction, building maintenance and social care packages. This is where firms have been through an application and evaluation process following a public notice inviting applications for inclusion onto a list, and are then approved to carry out specific works or services provided they have met or satisfied set criteria specific to the particular type of work they will be involved in.

Each approved list of suppliers/contractors is amended from time to time and is reviewed periodically.

Before we purchase goods from any supplier, we will usually seek information about your firm to satisfy ourselves that you meet certain basic criteria.

Some of the criteria arise from statutory requirements, others arise from council policies. Further information may be requested to help us plan future procurement arrangements. For example, our pre-qualification questionnaires may now include questions relating to the ability of suppliers to use electronic procurement arrangements, as we want to make more extensive use of electronic systems to facilitate paperless procurement.

20

Becoming an approved supplier/contractor does not guarantee that you will be selected to supply to us.

The information is requested on a Pre-Qualification Questionnaire and is likely to cover:

Company information	Basic information about your business
Finance	Details of turnover and banking arrangements
Insurance	Evidence of Employers' (if applicable) and Public Liability Insurance
Technical capacity and resources	Your main business and contracts you have carried out over the past few years, relevant qualifications and standards attained
Health and safety	Information about your Health and Safety policies
Equality	Information about your approach to equality
Sustainability	Information about your approach to sustainability and the environment

Each council needs to be satisfied that its suppliers are financially robust, properly insured and qualified, and have the capacity to undertake the council's work. In addition to financial information curriculum vitae of key staff that will be providing a service to the council and references from other councils that the supplier has worked for may well be sought.

Note: Some councils have a policy to select companies who are members of 'Construction Line'. This will, therefore, replace the relevant elements of the pre-qualification vetting that is normally carried out. This will not apply, however, in situations where we need to go out to European tender.

11. Confidentiality and freedom of information act

You should be aware that information submitted to a council in connection with a pre-qualification questionnaire or tender may be subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act. The Act requires councils to provide copies of any such information to any third party who makes a request for it. Certain information is exempt from disclosure under the Act, including information which is a trade secret, commercially sensitive (unless to disclose is in the public interest) or confidential in nature.

If you believe that any information supplied by you would fit within the exemptions set out in the Act then you should inform the council in writing when submitting your pre-qualification questionnaire or tender, giving a precise definition of the information you consider to be exempt and citing the relevant exemption. You should not mark all information submitted to us as “confidential”, but only information that you believe to be exempt under the Act’s confidentiality and commercial interests exemptions. We will endeavour to consult you before information of this type is disclosed to third parties who have made a request under the Act. We cannot, however, accept any restriction on our ability to disclose information which (in our reasonable opinion or in accordance with any recommendation, notice or decision of a competent authority) we are required to disclose under the Act. Consequently, we cannot guarantee that any information supplied by you in connection with a pre-qualification questionnaire or tender will be kept confidential.

Whilst information held by a council is subject to the above, you will be required to keep confidential all information supplied to you by us which is exempt from disclosure because it is confidential, commercially sensitive or a trade secret under the Act, whether or not we designate or mark it as confidential. You shall ensure that those of your employees who need to see and use that confidential information for any purpose are aware of this obligation of confidentiality and undertake to comply with it. You will also be required to ensure that the terms of any sub-contract reflect this requirement.

12. Electronic procurement

Over the last few years Central Government have progressively directed Public Service Organisations and Agencies, including councils, to make efficiency savings. One of the main ways this is deemed to be achievable is by developing the use of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and in particular the use of the Internet and other electronic means for procurement. As a result of these directives, the nine councils covered by this Guide are investing in the use of Electronic Procurement, Purchasing, Invoicing and Payment methods.

In common with other local authorities the councils have e-procurement strategies which aim to increase the levels of electronic business with the objective of reducing the council's and supplier's costs associated with the procurement process.

Supplier & Contract Management System (SCMS)

The nine North Yorkshire councils, along with all the other councils across the Yorkshire and Humber region, currently use SCMS. This is a Supplier and Contract Management System that enables us and you to communicate electronically on a number of procurement issues and opportunities including electronic tendering, rather than by way of the traditional paper based methods.

'SCMS' is a web based system, and anyone with an e-mail address and internet access can use it.

It provides advance warning of forthcoming tenders, details of all current tenders, and contract award information. This is in addition to the main function of the site, which is to provide tenderers with the ability to download tender documents and then submit bids electronically. More specifically, electronic tendering could benefit you in a number of ways:

- Provide you with the flexibility to receive and send documents electronically rather than having to rely on postal deliveries.
- Reduce costs associated with producing and copying tender documents.
- Eliminate the postage, delivery, or courier costs.
- Ensure your tender is received on time.

Registration is free, and there are no annual subscriptions or document download fees to pay.

A key advantage to you of SCMS is that once you have signed-up it is possible for you to view and partake in tendering and contract opportunities across the whole of the Yorkshire and Humber region. All contracts and forthcoming tender opportunities will be displayed in a public bulletin board area from where you can express your interest and enter the tendering process.

Once registered suppliers can update their details together with the information on which categories they have registered against and which councils they would like to do business with. This data is retained and may be used when selecting businesses to partake in any tendering process undertaken by the 22 councils.

To find out more information about SCMS, visit: <http://scms.alito.co.uk>.

The Council's in the region are currently reviewing the choice of e-tendering system. A new system will be in place from January 2012.

Electronic Ordering

A number of councils have implemented e-ordering systems to streamline trading. These systems typically provide a "shopping basket" facility which enables council staff to electronically issue orders for works, goods and services to suppliers. Suppliers may make efficiency savings at their end by integrating these transactions with their sales order processing software.

Electronic Invoicing and Payments

Following on from Central Government directives as to the advantages and savings that can be achieved by electronic invoicing and payments all the councils are pro-actively pursuing initiatives in this area. Most major contracts awarded will already include provision for this and progressively this will be encouraged for all new contracts that will be awarded.
